1. ABSTRACT

This master research paper investigates the profound intersection of ancient Vedic epistemology and modern quantum dynamics, establishing a rigorous theoretical framework for Prana-Tattva and the Triple-Body Theory of Light. Traditional physics restricts light to electromagnetic wave-particle dualities; however, this thesis categorizes radiance into physical, subtle, and causal dimensions (Sthula, Sukshma, and Karana-Sharira). Furthermore, it identifies the Biological Navel (Nabhi) as the absolute zero-point singularity and primary transducer for cosmic Prana (Life-Energy), drawing a direct parallel to the cosmic "Sota-putra" mechanism where solar threads transmit life-coded information across the solar system. By synthesizing these principles with the K7 Master Logic, this research redefines vital science through the lens of Rishi-Science, offering a unified model for cosmic dynamics, biological digestion, and quantum consciousness.

2. THE TRIPLE-BODY THEORY OF LIGHT (SUKSHMA-VIGYAN)

Conventional physics views light primarily as an observable electromagnetic spectrum. This thesis expands this definition into a multi-dimensional, hierarchically quantized framework:

* Physical Body (Sthula-Sharira): Representing the quantifiable photon, visible spectrum (such as VIBGYOR interactions), and classical optics. This is the gross, measurable aspect of radiance interacting directly with matter.
* Subtle Body (Sukshma-Sharira): Acting as the informational wave-function. It governs non-local resonance, quantum information transfer, and the transmission of vital frequencies that sustain biological matrices.
* Causal Body (Karana-Sharira): The primordial source frequency or ‘Static Intelligence.’ It serves as the Seed of Luminance from which all electromagnetic manifestations emerge, ensuring that life-sustaining frequencies transcend ordinary physical barriers.

3. THE PRANA-GATEWAY: THE ABSOLUTE NAVEL (NABHI) THEORY

The research identifies a critical biological and metaphysical singularity within the human form that connects the micro-cosmic vessel to the macro-cosmic architecture.

* The Primary Gateway: Just as the umbilical cord provides absolute sustenance and oxygenation inside the embryonic womb, the Nabhi (Navel) remains the continuous 'Zero-Point' gateway for cosmic Prana to enter the physical body throughout life.

* Metaphysical Transducer: The Navel functions as a high-frequency transducer, converting subtle cosmic vibrations into biological vitality. Empirical and theoretical deduction indicates that without primary prana inflow via the Nabhi matrix, gross metabolic processes (such as cellular food digestion) cannot sustain homeostasis, resulting in systemic collapse.
* Embryonic & Evolutionary Timeline: In gestation, the fetus relies entirely on the navel umbilical conduit. Post-natally, this conduit shifts from gross fluid transfer to subtle quantum-solar wave absorption, culminating after a standardized gestational maturation period.

4. COSMIC SEED TRANSMISSION: THE 'SOTA-PUTRA' PHENOMENON

A groundbreaking etymological and physical link bridges solar dynamics, celestial reflections, and biological manifestation.

* Solar Sutras (The Threads): The Sun is modeled not merely as a thermonuclear furnace, but as an active broadcaster of Sutras (Subtle Threads) carrying the digital blueprint of organic life.
* Lunar Moderation and Prana-Beej (Life-Seed Transmission): Solar radiance interacts with celestial bodies—specifically reflected and moderated via lunar fields (Som-Rishmi) and interplanetary resonance—descending to Earth as polarized "seeds of life." These seeds are absorbed by terrestrial crops and vegetation.
* Biological Transmutation: Upon consumption of harvested crops, the human metabolic system transmutes these stored solar seeds through a seven-stage biochemical progression (from Rasa to Shukra / Ojas), ultimately generating vital generative fluids.
* The Sota-Putra Etymology: Derived from the stream (Sota) of energy originating from the Solar Source (The Father), manifesting as progeny (Putra) or biological life across planetary nodes. This mechanism demonstrates that life is a broadcasted quantum phenomenon harvested through harmonic resonance.

5. CONCLUSION: VITAL GRAVITATION AND THE K7 MATRIX

The synthesis of Prana-Tattva and Light Physics proves that existence operates as a unified field of consciousness and energy. The universe is governed not solely by gross Newtonian gravitational forces, but by a "Vital Gravitation." This subtle pull ensures that biological organization is a calculated transmission of solar energy aligned with the mathematical coordinates of the K7 Theory.
